THE PORTAGE PROPOSITION.

Referring to the proposition that the state create and operate a system of portages on the upper Columbia river as a means of protecting the producers of the country from the evils of railroad combination, the Walla Walla Union railroad combination, the Walla Walla Union 1838;

Anyone who has ever been over the country, or even up and down the Columbia by rail or boat in daylight, knows that the faming land lies back from the river, that the country is not itilable from the point where the water laps the shore. A result of this eccentricity of nature is that a man whe owns ateamboats on the upper Columbia must either own railroads from the farm lands to the river or depend on his enemies for cargoes for his boats. As Dr. Baker once expressed it: "The man who owns the approaches to the river owns the river."

* THE ORKONIAN wants the state of Oregonic build portage roads around the Gascades and The Dailes. But it should know that the construction of the portage roads would not suffue. No one cound afford to put a line of boats on the Columbia unless he is able to control the carrying of agood share of products of the falland Empire. A small amount of freight can be placed up on thake river and some can be obtained from kildatiat location, as it is reised too far back from the river to enlarge the scheme to obtain opposition rates from the linking [kmpire to Portland, and embrace in it the construction of railroads from the Columbia to the wheat fields.

The Union is emitrely friendly to the proposition and proposition rates from the next fields. roads from the Columbia to the wheat news.

The Union is entirely triendly to the proposition, it only wishes to set forth such disadvantages as it would meet; but it goes further and states them. The amount of traffic immed overstates them. The amount of traint immediately accessible to the river is much more than a "email amount from Snake river and some from Kilchitat." Between forty and fifty thousend tone of wheat comes out from Snake river severy year. Half as much general freight goes up Snake river each year. Half of the Palouse region is within reach of Snake river, and could be been in case of compatition on the river at region is within reath of Snake riper, and could take boat, in case of competitions on the river, if the railroade declined to meet the river competition. All the Kitchiat fraights could find their way to the river more easily that they now reach the railroad. A considerable share of the traffic from and to the counties of Walla Walla and 'Umatilla could reach the river, and all the traffic of Gilliam, Morrew and Wasco consiles, including by far the greater part of the wool product of the state. All of this business, one-fourth of all the whole traffic of the Columbia river basic, could reach the river as easily as, it now comes to the railroad and without the construction of a single "feeder." To makeas, it now comes to the railroad and without use construction of a single "feeder." To make the river system reach with its benefits all the producing sections of the immediate river basin would, it is true, require she building of railroads to the interior, but they need not be many roor of great length. Twenty miles of road in Umatila county, forty in Walla Walla and twenty north of Smake river and direction from the latter of the county of the in waim waim and twenty formula between the would practically parallel the existing lines in the producing heart of the basin. Sixty miles more would make a direct connection with the Gaur d'Alore mines. The Union, from which the extract above is taken, adds further on that "a large subsidy could be raised in Walia Watta to lerge subsidy could be raised in Walia Walia to all the briefly could be raised in Walia Walia to all the project? of connecting that county with a livel system if it were established. Other condities would no doubt be as liberal. Portland, with her interests that would be involved, wend also be a newly contributor, and private enterprise thus supported rould be deposited more that the work of the work.

But it may be resulted that a portage system under state control and therefore outside of any possible combination, would not in fact do much of the earlying business of the country. The read or reads ributing parallel with the river would be competed to mest its competition with rates even with or less than the lowest out of river rates. The practical value of a portage system would probably be in the reduction of charges by rall rather than it the actual course of religible. This has than in the returned of English of This has been the object advantage of the locks in the Williamette at Oregon City. The amount of the river traffic is triffing but the roads in the valley have been held down to rates even with or below the cost of river transportation.

The proposed Columbia river portage system, if the ever partied a ton of frasher, would impanever carried a ton of freight, would imma-ely reduce the price of rail transportation and the lowest possible river rate would imand the lower positive rate rate would intended distely become the highest possible rail rate. Assuming that the reduction from present charges would be one-third (it would probably be more), the saving to the producer of the basin would, in a single year, be at least four times the cost of the proposed portage system.

THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION.

The interstate commerce commission continue to apply and enforce the principle, in cases presented for their consideration, that railway charges, on interstate traffic must be One of the latest cases is that of manufacturers of a certain widely used the manufacturers of a certain wheely observed extensing compound against the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Bailway Company. The complaint was that the railway company, through an unwarrantable classification, charged a freight rate of over 100 per cont. more than is charged for a similar article.

The commission, in their examination of the subject, vindicated the principle of classifica-tion and the mode of making rates thereby as a mode "intended both for the convaniones of the railroad company and also for the accommen-dation of chippers." The commission also say that "long experience has shown that it is the best and most practicable way yet devised dealing with the anniect." And yet "in the dealing with the subject." And yet, "In the grouping of articles a cheesingation may be made that amounts to an unjust discrimination." If, however, the freight be of great value, a ligher rate may be charged upon it than upon freight of little value. Heads, as the article in question, though a cleansing commond and used for the same purposes as common song, is worth about twice as much, it might justly bear a higher charge for transport than common stap, but still not so bigh a charge as the railway company placed upon it The ratiway company had placed the article in question in the fourth class and had charged it accordingly. The plaintiff class with common seap. After a full hearing the commission decided that it ought to be placed in the sixth class, with common seap. After a full hearing the commission decided that it ought to be placed in the fifth class and charged accordingly: and it was so ordered.

15; and it was so offeren. The incident is one of gaseral interest, as showing a principle upon which the commission propeeds in the matter of adjusting cases arising from complaints of over-charges. The interestate commission is established as one of the permanent agencies in the regulation of the rallways of the country, and, as it exercises more and more of the jurisdiction which is given it by law, it will gradually extend its au-thority over all the operations of the rall ways as carriers between the states.

RUSSIA AND FRANCE.

About ten days ago this statement came in our cable dispatches:

The exar saks a substantial recognition of the right of Russia to control Bulgaria and Raumella. Prince Ferdinand and the sobranje are to be wiped out, and a Russian commissioner, with a Turkish colleague, is to reorganiza, the government and the army and control the elections for a new sobranje. Russia further claims the right to occupy the principality until the exar deems it proper to withdraw his troops:

From movements of Russian troops and conceptration of vast armise on her southern contration of vast armies on her southern frontiers, it is apparent that these are the demands which Bussia is preparing to maintain.

But this does not eignify that war will be a speedy result. Russia is not likely to precipi tate a conflict, with Germany and Austria pitted against her, and with Italy ready to aid them, at least until it can be ascertained whether the werful assistance of France can be secured for powerful assistance of France can be occurred as-the Russian undertaking. This is a subject of negotiation, and intest dispatches say, regarding the Russe-French alliance, that it is advancing

YACHT RACING.

It is probable that at some time during the coming summer there will be a contest between American and English steam racht; for the priz: Ared three years ago, by the American Yacht Club, and which has never yet been competed for. A steam yacht is now being built in England, embodying the best European ideas as fairly as Mr. Gould's yacht, the Atlants, embodies the best American ideas; and it is hoped to bring the two together for an ocean race. to bring the two together for an ocean race.

It is a very common thing to characterize pach resung as "boys plny," and the whois sachting business as a conseless extravagance; but after all the fancy yacht has its practical mess. In the construction of these books there is constant experimental application of new ideas. Practical this kine can demonstrate the value or the worthessness of the conceits of defences and this kine pand work done by the signers, and this is the good work done by the jachtman: He does for commerce what the 'lancy farmei' does for agriculture, and the breeder of high blood animals does for stook

The government fish commissioner, in a note rinted restorday, questions the wisdom of in-teducing cathet into the Tushatin river. He printed restardar, questions the wisdom of introducing catilet into the Tualatin river. He spr: "I am disposed to be very conservative about the introduction of any of the species of are tributaries to streams that contain better fiel. The catilet is a great spawn eater, and if placed in any of the tributaries of the Willamette will doubtless in time distribute itself to all, and it is a serious question to consider whether it is advisable to introduce the species in that river basin." Of course the commissioner is it is advisable to introduce the species in turniver basin." Of course the commissioner is right. We have never been able to understand why anybody in this country, where saimon, trout, smeit, and many other kinds of river and ocean fish of the better kinds abound, should wish to introduce catfish, carp and the like. That anybody who can get saimon, the finest in the world and fresh from its native stream, should wish for cat, is strange indeed. It is as if joint tenderions should be rejected for lean runb.

The Spokane Falls Chronicle is opposed to the name "Tacoma" for the future state, because it "does not wish to lend itself to a boom" to the city of Tacoma. This feeling, which is certainly very silly, is not nucommon in the eastern part of the territory. The last proposition is to call the state "Washingtona" or "Washingtonia," which would be only a little less abautithan "Caecadia," suggested some time ago. There is no danger of this: lly, however, since congress may be derended upon to protect the Piere is no darger of this "Dy, nowaer, successingrees may be depended upon to protect the noble name of Washington from a senseless cariculore. If hoad prejudica will not produce the use of "Tacoma," by far the most fit, then let the state be called "Yakima," This name is suphoricus, short, easily spelled and appropriate the before table piere which draines the outite. It belongs to the river which drains the cen-ral area of the country. Its adoption would be a fair compromise between the sentern and westurn divisions of the territory.

The condition of the Indiana in the region at the of Winnipey, in Ratisly Columbia, I said to be desperate. The futiers of crops last year with the scarnity of game left the Indiana solely rependent on the further department for look. The government supplies have falled to coate and the consequences are most deplorable. All the stock of field they had frozen in the early part of the winter was spoiled by the mid-weatter in January. The chiefs of Whitefish has and other tribes became domonstrative and theatered the government official with reposition unless food was given them. The agent came to the station of Edmonton, and finding no supplies, refused to return without food, being afraid for his life.

It is said that Congressman Wm. L. Scott of he "old twenty-seventh" district of Penusylthe "old twenty-seventh" district of Pennsylvania has an eye upon Dan Cameron's seat in the renate; and the fact is making a eitr'in Pennsylvania politica. It is not seriously thought among republicane that Scott has any chance of promotion to the upper house, but it is conceded that he could make Cameron a good deal of frouble. Cameron's successor will not be chosen until January, 1891, but the state senators to be elected this fail—and there will be twenty-five of them—will hold over until after the next senatorial election. The legislative nominations soon to be made are being tive nominations soon to be made are being watched with unusual interest.

It is believed that either Gresham or Harrison would carry Indiana, but the former would car tainly be the more acceptable candidate to the country at large. Greeham has points of strength not possessed by Harrison, or for that matter, by any other man in the party. He emmatter, by any other man in the party. way—albina Street Imprevement—Notes.

An important matter has just been develoued that is of great interest to the city of East Pottlend. It is not generally known that the city has ithic to four blocks of valuable ground in Holladay addition. The ground is located on Holladay avanue, between Eleventh and Thirteenth streets, and must be worth at leased $30,000. These four blocks are marked on the maps "Park," and were deducated to the city of East Portland of Heal Holladay at a very early day, to be used as a city park. Several prominent inverse stated, on being interviewed, that the four blocks in question being to East Portland. Bill daws stated, citating the being to the estate. The lawyers who were interviewed about the matter are familiar with the lasts and chaim positively the blocks are the property of East Portland. At any rate, it is olsowed the importance to be examined into. If any one will axe must be first the patch to first the patch is, has the city claim to first the part in on tunder the donatten of Ben Holladay." he park. The point is, has the ci lef the donation of Ben Holladay:

STREET WORK IN ALBINA. STREET WORK IN ALBINA.

The city council of Albina has taken steps for the improvement of Helm street. Helm is to be improved full which, leading from Rossell street on the south to Knott street on the north. Also the east half of Helm street from Knott attent to alprins is to be graded. First class sidewalk will be laid from Russell street to Knott, and third classifiem Knott to Morris streets. Morris street is also to be improved from Helm to Berthwicz street by grating and laying sidewalks. Helm, when improved in the way indicated, will be an uncorfaint street. It leads from the central part of Albina to Multicoman addition and mear the decided school in the second street by school building, which will make it a great economic to the large number living in the northern part of Albina.

The annual school meeting of school district No.

SURGOL MEETING.

The annual school meeting of school district No. 21 will be held in Central school building Monday. March 5. A tax will be levied for carrying on the schools for the year and for insproving the schools for the year and for insproving the schools for the year and for insproving the schools for the year and of the indebtedness on block 25 and papient of interest on the outstanding bonds. The election of a school clerk wit take place fronday, March 12, and also a rice of the school school of a school clerk. The first place fronday, March 12, and also a first outstand the beautiful school of the place fronday will be a school year was too high, but the new buildings put up inside the tax high. It is rightly considered that those who in future will have the advantage of any fine schools should help pay for them.

STREET BAILWAY MATTERS. There is a large force of men on N street pulting down a double line of track from Fifth toward the bridge. At the intersection of Fifth and N streets bridge. At the intersection of Fifth and Nersels the tracks are very numerous, crossing and tecrossing each other. Flanking will be out down in such a way instruct top of the rails will be or a level with the readway. The company have five horses at Witerg's slable, and are all ready to commence running when the track is laid. It is suggested that the basebalt managers secure grounds on the "park" in Holladay's addition. It would be at the northern termination of the street car line.

REV. BAILS' FUNRRAL. REV. SAILS' FUNRRAL.

The funeral of Rev. T. L. Sails, which took place yesterday at 11 A. M., was largely attended. Rev. I. K. Hines read a brief sketch of his life, and Rev. T. L. Jones gave a personal tribute to the virtues of the departed. He services were very inspressive all through.

CASE OF A MISSUE WILL.—The time of County Judge John Catlin was occupied years of the hearing ine petition of Stephen Gregory and John Bremile to have the lost will of the late Cathorine flummed Soffmitted to probate. Considerable nuterest was manifested in the proceedings and, the court room was crowded all day. After hearing a great deal of testimony the court continued the case until to morrow. The petition of Brandle and Gregory set forth that Mrs. Hummel left a will, according to which Henry Wielsnot, a son of a promer husband, was to receive $1. The will was left to Gregory and after the death of Mrs. Hummel it disappeared together with other paper, and Walstand was advended at he largeny. The tree

The lack of cars bears hard on the whent trade as while there is pienty of grain in the interior for sais and shooters are willing to purchase it, the uncertainty about its reaching of densiter acts as a check to purchases 1 to the canned goods trade there is still a fair movement at onchanged prices. Blocks are much cut up nd 100 one now carries a full assortment. The jast has been the best season on record for each nery men and the country sear will doubtiess see the business further extended. There is little abatement in the cost familie which is a serious drawback to imany manufacturing ludustries where tells a large item of expense Cargoes are arriving almost daily but the consumption far outrous the supply and fancy flyeres rule. There have been irres arrivals of coffee the last ateamer bringing 12 °63 bags from Contral America. The market is weak and dull files is firm both for mixed and Hawalian Sugar is in good demand at steady rates. The demand for raw has consider the refineries. There has been a fair export movement in quicksilver at labely reduced prices while other metals though not active are firmly held free demand for bags is not utgent but prices remain steady at races quoted last week.

New York mail dates mention a more steady apparance in the ball market, and it is taken for granted that the efforts of manufacturers to roach an understanding whereby the ouep twould cutinued firm with a better demand for large into of nearly all kinds atthough the line trade did n t show the same improvement and seemed of ecked by the moderate distribution to progress.
